SCLT Historic Preservation Mission
Preserving our unique Wyoming identity

Our communities are steeped in historical places and sites. Historic preservation is highly valued by our community. Sheridan County is rich in history with many buildings, facades, and other historically significant sites. Preservation is a physical reminder of a shared past and plays a critical role in defining and reinforcing our unique Wyoming identity as well as providing visual enjoyment. Public and private property owners work with Sheridan Community Land Trust to permanently preserve and interpret significant historic structures and sites. Preserving historic places and sites maintain and enhance our region's character and economy.

PRESERVATION EASEMENTS AND HISTORIC INTERPRETATION

Sheridan Inn

The Sheridan Inn is a historical treasure to Sheridan, Wyoming and is the first historical easement in the State of Wyoming.

Doc Huson Homestead

In 2015, a conservation land easement and a historical preservation easement was celebrated to protect the land, the Huson homestead, and the rich history that comes with it.

Acme Powerplant

Many local residents have a strong connection to the Acme Powerplant, because of the people that used to live and/or work in the Acme community and the previous northern mining towns of Sheridan County.

Black Diamond Byway

Stretching north from Sheridan for about 15 miles, the Black Diamond Trail highlights Sheridan County coal mine districts from 1910 to 1920s.
